Cincinnati, May 24.—Showers earlier in the day doubtless kept down the attendance at Newport to-day, but it was fair notwithstanding; the track was rather heavy. Will H. Sayre to-day sold to James Williams of Louisville his good two-year-old coit, Andy Williams, which has been racing at Newport and Latonia, for $5.000 cash and $500 coningent upon the colt winning the Kindergarien Stake to-morrow at St. Louis. Andy Williams was shipped to St. Louis this afternoon. Summary:

Then the crew warped the Independence back to her oil position on the north side of the wharf and all hands set to work securing the rigging in its proper places. Before the work had progressed very far it was discovered that several of the chainplates were too short to allow the shackles on the ends of the shrouds to go into place and the blacksmiths had to cut away some of the steel. No attempt was made to splice the turnbuckles. The bowsprit caused much trouble and had to be unshaped several times to allow an opportunity to the shipwrights to shave it down so it could ship through the after gammon iron properly. When the howsprit was all right the Dolphin striker was tried and it was soon discovered that it had not been flanged properly at the top and so orders had to be given to make ansother one

MATTHEWSON KEEPS ON WINNING. SHUTTING OUT CINCINNA 11. Batter Hit by Pitched Ball Forces in a Run for the New Yorks-Heavy Stick Work by

Champions. Who Beat Chicagos-Quakers and Pirates Successful-Other Games. The National League games yesterday esulted in victories for the New Yorks, Brooklyns, Pittsburgs and Philadelphias. The losers were the Cincinnati, Chicago, Boston and St. Louis teams. The day's returns found the New Yorks with a slightly better hold on first place and the Philadelphias pushing the Reds closely for second place. The Brooklyns, whose work has been very erratic, had one of their good days, and by hard hitting climbed over the Bostons into fifth place. Washington played a tie with Cleveland in the American League and Detroit beat Boston. Following are the National League results and standing:

New York, 1; Cincinnati, 0. Brooklyn, 15; Chicago, 7, Pittaburg, 6; Boston, 4, Philadelphia, 5; St. Louis, 3 THE RECORD.

NEW YORK, I. CINCINNATI. 0.

It was the Cincinnatis' turn yesterday to yield to the power and cunning that lurks in the arm of Pitcher Matthewson. They are the sixth mess of fish that have come into his net this year, and only the St. Louis team needs be trimmed by the college-bred conjuror of curves for him to have gone successfully down the entire League line. The win yesterday was New York's eighth with Matthewson in, and the fourth shut-out they have accomplished with the aid of his leger-demain to reduce opposing batters to a state of fear and trembling. Incidentally, it was exceedingly fortunate for the New Yorks that Matthewson pitched yesterday, because the locals made only one run themselves. So far as scoring went, Phillips did as well, barring one inning, as his rival, although hit harder. one inning, as his rival, although hit harder

A lonesome brace of singles was all the batting the Reds did, and these were so far separated, they might as well have been on different days. Crawford made one in the second inning, while everybody concerned was nearly an hour older before the second came to light. This time it was Steinfeldt, who in the seventh inning plucked another safe drive from the barren field of turns at the bat. There were a few other times, however, when the ball was hit hard and flush on the nose, but they were not many and there was somebody in front of the ball when they did occur.

The only run of the game was forced in in the first inning by a man being hit with a pitched ball. Canzel was the target and the man who reached the plate thereby was Selbach. Selbach had made the first of three singles after van Hultren had grounded to Beckler. Strang also singled, but Hickman's fierce swipes at the ball produced nothing more dangerous than a foul to Irwin. Phillips seemed shy about letting Davis have a whack at the ball, as Davis did not even get to swing, taking first on four balls. Whether Ganzel would have been easier than Davis was not decided, as a slow one struck Ganzel in the leg and Selbach trotted in. Smith struck out with the bases filled.

grounder cleanly and sot his man at first From a New York standpoint the ninth inning was the most ticklish of the lot. Dobbs was the first man up, and Matthewson could not find the plate for him. Beckley sacrifleed and Dobbs went to second. Nelson took care of Crawford's rap. Dobbs the while horrying to third. Most any old kind of a fluke mental a run, and Steinfield, who, except Crawford, was the only Red who had shown any familiarity with Matthewson's delivery, was at the last. Steinfield throws a long fly to left centre.

BROOKLYN, 15: CHICAGO, 7.
Only 1,700 persons witnessed a long drawn out and uninteresting game at Washington Park vesterday afternoon. The Champions showed some of their old-time form with the bat and defeated Capt Doyle's outfit without any apparent effort. The Chicagos played poorly and at times it seemed as if not one of them was able to hold on to the ball. Although the Champions made most of their runs by hitting when hits were needed, errors by Doyle and McCormack also helped things along. The score. things along The score

At the M. G. A. championship tournament esterday the great surprise was the defeat I Travis, who is both the M. G. A and the imateur champion, by young Seeley of the Wee Burn Club. This happened in the aftermorning was considered an almost sure thing. although he gave a good match to Travis. Then happened three foregone conclusions for Seeley beat Emmet, Carpenter beat Mat-thews and Douglas beat Macdonald. Winners only could play in the afternoon and good matches resulted. The links looked like a garden and the crowd on the clubhouse verandas was full of enthusiasm. The match between Travis and Seeley brought the crowd to its feet, an unusual occurrence at a golf match. Many thought that Macdonald would push Douglas hard had an easy task. Carpenter beat Matthews by only one hole, but the winner in the other two matches, Seeley and Travis, were not o play Carpenter. The latter has a good long game, but puts in one-handed style imilar to a croquet player. He could no on his game. There was a "gallery" bot in the morning and afternoon, with Dougla followed the Travis-Seeley combination in the afternoon, and all agreed that it was he best match of the tournament young Seeley was a cunning golfing star all who followed the records of the sport has known for two years, but that he would reach the point of excellence necessary to beat last year's golfing marvel, Travis, this spring not even his most sanguine friends had believed.
